Experiences around Dying & Palliative Care

“Dying, more than any other life event presents us with the opportunity to grow, to change, to love, to appreciate and ultimately to experience the meaning of our existence.” — DR MICHAEL BARBATO

Dr Michael Barbato was a palliative care physician for 20 years. Now retired, he runs courses on death and dying as well as being the author of several books including Caring for the Dying. He has a long-standing interest in unusual experiences at end of life.

In the morning, Dr Barbato will speak about experiences around dying - dreams, visions, symbolic language and unconsciousness around the moment of death.

Anyone with an interest in death, dying and end of life care is welcome to attend the morning session.

A palliative care volunteer workshop will be held in the afternoon. If you are a palliative care volunteer, please contact your volunteer manager for further details about the workshop.
